I. Purpose

- 1.1 The Dixie State University Faculty Senate is the representative, deliberative, and legislative agency of the institution's faculty and hereinafter will be referred to as the Faculty Senate.
- 1.2 The purpose of the Faculty Senate is to serve Dixie State University and further the fulfillment of its mission by providing an authoritative voice for faculty; working to improve the general welfare of faculty; fostering professionalism among the faculty; supporting the Academic Freedom rights of faculty (see Policy 633: Faculty Rights and Responsibilities), students, and the institution itself; promoting communication among the faculty, administrators, staff, students, and community members; and encouraging good fellowship among the faculty.
- 1.3 The Faculty Senate maintains bylaws as protocols to function as a senate body. These bylaws pertain to the composition of the Faculty Senate, including election and roles of senate members, and the communicative procedures of the Faculty Senate. These bylaws also pertain to the general faculty of DSU as participants in the shared governance of the Faculty Senate.

II. Scope

- 2.1 The Faculty Senate is subject to the authority of and any required approvals from the University President, the Board of Trustees, and the State of Utah Board of Regents.
- 2.2 The Faculty Senate serves as an advisory body to the administrative officers of the University and is a representative body for the faculty of the institution in matters relating to shared governance in the academic administration and operation of the University.

III. Definitions

- 3.1 General Faculty: The General Faculty is composed of persons with appointments as full-time Regular and Professional faculty (as defined in Policy 631: Faculty Categories). Each individual General Faculty member has voting rights to elect representative(s) and Officers to the Faculty Senate as outlined in this procedure 6.1 and 6.2.

IV. Policy

4.1 Shared Governance

- 4.1.1 Faculty Senate will have meaningful participation in curriculum, subject matter, methods of instruction, and aspects of student life that directly relate to the educational process, including requirements for degrees offered, determining when requirements have been fulfilled, and recommending when degrees are conferred.
- 4.1.2 Faculty Senate will have meaningful participation in decisions regarding the general academic operations of the University, including budget to inform administrators about faculty views and communicating relevant information between the parties. It does not include decision-making outside the areas where individual faculty members have been assigned such responsibilities.
- 4.1.3 Faculty Senate will have meaningful participation in formulation and revision of University policies and to make recommendations regarding the approval or disapproval of those policies according to Policy 101: Policy Process. The Faculty Senate may choose to offer a formal recommendation on any proposed new policy or policy revision. If no formal recommendation is received, the consent or agreement of the Faculty Senate is assumed.
- 4.1.4 Faculty Senate will have meaningful participation in faculty employment status and related matters such as appointments, reappointments, nonrenewal of appointments, terminations, and the granting of post-probationary status. Such determinations are first a faculty action through established University procedures, which are reviewed by and submitted for any required approvals from appropriate administrators and governing boards.

- 4.1.5 Faculty Senate will have a minimum of two representatives with full voting rights on Academic Council and University Council that have formal approval of new and revised policies. These representatives will be the Faculty Senate President and President-Elect unless they delegate the responsibility to other elected faculty representatives.
- 4.1.6 The Faculty Senate is an advisory board to the administrative officers of the University. The Senate President and President-Elect will maintain communication and offer input to Academic Affairs and Student Affairs.
- 4.1.7 The Faculty Senate may create its own procedures and standing and ad hoc committees, but will not create any University policy without approval from the senate. A number of University committees and councils are required to include faculty representatives. A complete list of those committees and councils is found in Addendum 7.3: Faculty Representation on University Council & Committees.
- 4.1.8 The Faculty Senate is also delegated to consider non-policy matters of professional faculty welfare and make recommendations to administrative officers of the University. Nothing in this delegation of authority impacts the role of faculty in the Academic Structure and its supervisory and reporting responsibilities. As well, nothing in this delegation of authority will prohibit individual faculty members from speaking out in support of or against a Faculty Senate action.
- 4.1.9 In order to provide transparency in faculty workload, the Faculty Senate will review the annual workload and reassignments report provided by the Provost/Vice-President of Academic Affairs in order to assess internal equity and application of external standards. The Faculty Senate will provide feedback to the Vice-President of Academic Affairs and Deans Council regarding the University's workload system each year. (See Policy 635: Faculty Workload)
- 4.1.10 All Policies pertaining to Faculty Senate are subject to approval by the University Academic Council and Board of Trustees. The Faculty Senate has the right to develop its own internal procedures and guidelines. (See Procedure 6.7: Approving, Ratifying, and Amending the Constitution and Bylaws)
- 4.1.11 The Faculty Senate is empowered in specific University policies to develop procedures for electing representatives to Academic committees. However, if the Faculty Senate does not hold fair and open elections in a timely manner, the authority to hold such elections will be assumed by the University Academic Council.

VI. Procedures

- 6.1 Electing faculty senators
 - 6.1.1 When the term of a Faculty Senator is expiring, the Faculty Senate President will inform the dean and the department chair by February 1 of the need to hold an election prior to March 1 to select one member of the department or associated program to represent the department in Faculty Senate.
 - 6.1.2 The dean or department chair will inform all members of the department of the departmental nomination process and seek eligible candidates. Department chairs are ineligible to serve as Senators.

- 6.1.3 General Faculty members appointed to full-time positions in the department are eligible to vote. Eligible voters will be duly informed of the date of election with at least one week's notice. If an eligible voter is unable to vote in the chosen manner (electronically, paper ballot, etc.) because of distance, disability, or other reason, an alternative method must be provided for the faculty member to cast his/her vote.
 - 6.1.4 The dean or department chair will inform the department of the results within two (2) working days after the deadline for casting ballots.
 - 6.1.5 Each year prior to the elections, the Committee on Constitutional Review and Organization will review the academic structure of the University to determine if representational adjustments need to occur.
 - 6.1.6 A Senator can be recalled by his/her department. Upon receipt of a petition requesting a recall election signed by at least 20% of eligible voters in department with a minimum of two votes, the Faculty Senate President will direct the Department Chair to hold a recall election. A Senator is recalled upon the vote of a majority of the faculty members eligible to vote in that department. In such cases, a special election is held to elect a replacement Senator who will serve the remainder of the recalled Senator's term.
- 6.2 Electing Faculty Senate President-Elect
- 6.2.1 The President will announce the candidates no later than at the February meeting of the General Faculty and via electronic communication within three days after that meeting.

 - 6.2.3 Before the March General Faculty meetings, the general election will be held.
 - 6.2.4 All members of the General faculty employed in full-time faculty appointments are eligible to vote.
 - 6.2.5 Voting will be conducted by secret ballot with each voter ranking candidates in order from first to last choice. The candidate receiving a majority of the votes will be designated the incoming Faculty Senate

President-Elect for the following year.

- 6.2.6 If no candidate receives a majority vote, then the candidate with the fewest first choice votes will be dropped. If two candidates are tied for the fewest first choice votes, they will both be dropped. When names are dropped for the second round, each ballot will be adjusted to promote the highest remaining candidate to first choice. The vote count will then be recalculated and the candidate receiving a majority of the recounted votes will be designated the incoming Faculty Senate President-Elect for the following year.
- 6.2.7 The results of the election will be announced no later than at the March meeting of the General Faculty, with the leadership transition being completed immediately following Spring Commencement.
- 6.2.8 The President-Elect automatically serves a one-year term as President after one year. After that year, the President serves as the Past-President for a one-year term.

- 6.3.1 Should a Senator vacate his/her office, a replacement to fill the remainder of the departed Senator's term will be appointed by the respective department in the manner of the department's choice.

6.3.2 Replacing a Faculty Senate Officer vacancy

- 6.3.2.1 A vacancy can occur for a number of reasons that prohibit an incumbent from completing his/her term. A replacement will be selected according to the position, and all duties and responsibilities will be transferred to the new incumbent.

6.3.2.2 President-Elect Vacancy

- 6.3.2.2.1 If the office of President-Elect becomes vacant, a Special Election will be held, wherein the General Faculty will elect a new President-Elect according to the same protocol outlined for a regular election to that office. The individual so elected will serve the remainder of the term as President-Elect, and progress through the terms of President and Past-President.

6.3.2.3 President Vacancy

- 6.3.2.3.1 If the office of President becomes vacant, a new President will be appointed based on the nomination and vote of the voting members of the Faculty Senate. That individual will serve the remainder of the term as President and progress to the office of Past-President the following year. If the office of Past-President becomes vacant, a new Past-President will be appointed based on a vote of the voting members of the Faculty Senate to serve the remainder of the term as Past-President.

6.3.2.4 Secretary-Treasurer and/or Parliamentarian Vacancy

6.3.2.4.1 If the office of Secretary-Treasurer and/or Parliamentarian becomes vacant, a new Secretary-Treasurer and/or Parliamentarian will be nominated by the President and ratified by the voting members of the Faculty Senate to serve the remainder of that year's appointment.

6.3.3 Recall of Faculty Senate Officer

- 6.3.3.1 If the President receives a petition requesting a recall election of the President-Elect signed by at least 20% of the General Faculty, the President will direct that a recall election will take place.
- 6.3.3.2 If the Past-President received a petition requesting a recall of the President signed by at least 20% of the General Faculty, the Past-President will direct that a recall election will take place.
- 6.3.3.3 An officer is recalled upon the vote of a majority of the general faculty eligible to vote in an annual election for President-Elect. The regular procedures for filling a vacancy in that position will be used for filling a vacancy created by a recall election.

6.4 Voting Procedures in General Faculty Meetings

6.4.1 Typically, matters that must be decided by the General Faculty will be voted on using electronic means affording equal access to all eligible voters. However, if notice is given as described above, a vote of the General Faculty may be taken at any properly scheduled and announced General Faculty meeting. In such cases, votes from members of the General Faculty who did not attend the meeting must be accepted until 48 hours after the meeting and the results of the vote will be considered advisory and not binding.

6.4.2 All matters requiring an official vote of the General Faculty must be conducted in the manner equivalent to the election of the Faculty Senate President-Elect, including the provision that each eligible voter is given a fair and equal opportunity to participate in the vote.

6.5 Approving, Ratifying, and Amending the Constitution and Bylaws

6.5.1 The Constitution and Bylaws will be approved by the Faculty Senate, posted for General Faculty review and comment period (following procedures established in DSU Policy 101 Policy Process), and ratified by a two-thirds (2/3) majority vote of the General Faculty before being sent through the appropriate academic and institutional governance process for required approvals. All full-time members of the General Faculty as defined by this constitution are eligible to vote.
